Bibliography and Other Selected Resources

The following sources were used in the creation of the permanent exhibition Past, Present, Future at the Brooklyn Navy Yard Center @ BLDG 92. This, in addition to the material in our collections, will be helpful for researchers in understanding the history of the Brooklyn Navy Yard and its activities.

Books and Articles, 20th Century

Albion, Robert G. A Brief History of Civilian Personnel in the U.S. Navy Department. Navy Department, October 1943.

“Guns for Merchant Men,” Life Magazine, February 23, 1942

Meany, Joseph F., PhD, Senior Historian, New York State Museum, “Port in a Storm: The Port of New York in World War II,” 2004

Morrison, John H. History of New York Ship Yards. WM. F. Sametz & Co., 1910

Books and Articles, 19th Century

“Arrangement for the Grand and Solemn Funeral Procession, which is to take place on Wednesday at the interment of the remains of eleven thousand five hundred American seamen soldiers and citizens who suffered martyrdom on board the Jersey and other prison ships in the harbor of New -York, during the revolution,” American Citizen Magazine, May 25, 1808
“Building the New War Ship “Maine” at the Brooklyn Navy-Yard,” Harper’s Weekly Volume XXXIII No 1681 March 9, 1889

“Launch of the Armored Cruiser “Maine” at the Brooklyn Navy-Yard,” Harper’s Weekly Volume XXXIV No 1771 November 29, 1890

Stiles, Henry R. A History of the City of Brooklyn Vols. 1, 2, 3. Brooklyn: Published by Subscription, 1867 (2005 CD Reprint)

The Odd Fellow. Published Boston, Wednesday April 24, 1850. Article on page 38, obituary of Major Noah Butterworth, 88. Perhaps the last surviving prisoner from the Jersey. pp 33-40.

The Wallabout Prison Ships 1776-1783 by Eugene L. Armbruster. Published New York 1920. Edition limited to 300 copies of which this is 299. 29 pp

American Prisoners of the Revolution by Danske Dandridge. Reprinted by the Genealogical Publishing Company,
Baltimore, 1967 (Originally published 1911) 504 pp

Books and Articles, 18th Century

Radio Transcripts

Digital Sources

Federal Government Documents

“Explanatory Estimates for the Construction of Naval Hospitals at Charleston, Brooklyn, Pensacola,” Communicated to the House of Representatives February 11, 1831

Rear Admiral E.C. Holtzworth, USN, Shipyard Commander. New York Naval Shipyards, 1963

Navy Civilian Personnel Instructions. 1965 (2 binders)

Closure Actions, New York Naval Shipyard, 1964-66 (6 binders)

Landmark Designation Documents, New York City and USA

Surgeon’s House, Brooklyn Navy Yard, Designated NYC Landmark, November 9, 1976

Dry Dock #1, Designated NYC Landmark, September 23, 1975

Quarters A/Commandant’s House, Designated National Landmark 1974

Historic Pictorial Material

“At the Brooklyn Navy Yard,” Harper’s Weekly Vol. XXXVI, 1892

“Brooklyn Navy Yard and Shops,” Scientific American, September 21, 1889

“In the Navy Yard,” Gleason’s Pictorial Views, Brooklyn, NY 1851

“Second Visit to the US Navy Yard, Brooklyn,” Frank Leslie’s Illustrated Newspaper August 1, 1857

“US Navy Yard Hospital, Brooklyn, Situated on what was Originally the Shore of the Wallabout Bay,” Frank Leslie’s Illustrated Newspaper, August 1, 1857

“Navy Yard, Brooklyn, NY View Taken from East Side of Wallabout Bay, Williamsburg,” Gleason’s Pictorial Views, 1859-60

“Trial of the ‘Little Giant’ Chemical Fire Engine at the Brooklyn Navy Yard Showing Its Efficacy in Preventing, by the Aid of Gas, the Spread of Flames,” Frank Leslie’s Illustrated Newspaper January 10, 1874

“Brooklyn Navy Yard Workers, Volunteering for Service at Pearl Harbor, are Told Goodby (sic) by their Commandant,” March 2, 1942